

NIH GRANT PROPOSAL-WRITING SERIES FOR ASSISTANT PROFESSORS

This six-month series will help assistant professors develop a full proposal, ready for submission to the National Institutes for Health in October 2014.

- Assistant professors applying to the series must have attended the February 4 “Write Winning NIH Grant Proposals” seminar.
- Attendees will be paired with a highly experienced consultant from Grant Writers’ Seminars & Workshops LLC for strategizing and editing sessions.
Please see series schedule for detailed information.
- There is a required on-campus workshop April 30–May 1, 2014. Participants will be responsible for their travel costs to attend.
- Department and college/school combined cost is $1,500 per accepted applicant. The Division of Research will pay the remainder (approx. $2,500 per participant).

Apply by Feb. 12, 2014

Application available at: vpr.tamu.edu/researchdevelopment/FPDP/NIH-dev

Series Schedule

vpr.tamu.edu/researchdevelopment/FPDP/Docs-2014/NIH-Series-Schedule-2014.pdf

Consultant

Dr. John D. Robertson
Grant Writers’ Seminars and Workshops, LLC
grantcentral.com

Contact

Research Development Services
Division of Research
Texas A&M University

John Ivy, Ph.D.
johnivy@tamu.edu
979-458-4280

Jorja Kimball, Ph.D.
jkimball@tamu.edu
979-845-1811

